

TYPOGRAPHIC LIBRARY & MUSEUM

Established in JERSEY CITY, N. J., in
1908 by the AMERICAN TYPE
FOUNDERS COMPANY

THIS is a Public Library and Museum established to perpetuate and honor the memory and achievements of all those who in any period and in all countries have advanced the typographic arts. The Library occupies two rooms and contains more than twelve thousand volumes relating exclusively to printing and its allied arts. It is open to visitors during business hours.

The Typographic Library and Museum assumes the duty of collecting and preserving the memorabilia of printing and of printers of all nations. It aims to answer or afford the means of answering authoritatively all questions relating to printing and its allied arts. Its ability to do this is the test of its comprehensiveness. The coöperation is invited of all who are interested in maintaining and enhancing the prestige of the art of printing.
